NORWICH STUDENTS READY. Nearly All of Them Would Serve Their

Country in War. Norwich university is probably the first institution in the United States to offer its facilities to the government for the training of officers in event of war after the break with Germany came. Immediately following the canceling of diplomatic relations, the president of the university wired the adjutant-general, offering every facility of the institution to the government in event of war. This wire was later followed by a letter and due acknowledgment has been received by the university authorities.

There has probably been less outward demonstration of activity in preparation for war at Norwich university than in any other educational institution, for the simple reason that all the cadets lead a military life and are constantly under training. Their mental attitude is much more likely to be that of a soldier who simply awaits orders without any manifestation of concern. Norwich university is a cavalry unit of the United States reserve officer's training corps and will no doubt be called upon to supply officers for cavalry regiments. The cadets are not legally bound for service, but it is known that practically every man in the institution of legal age and physical qualifications is ready to re-

The present international crisis, however, has developed a new phase of military interest at Norwich university, and that is the unanimous vote of its academie staff to organize itself into a military unit and to begin practical military instruction. This ac-

To Save Daylight.

Boston, March 31.-The result of a referendum vote of members of the Boston chamber of commerce on the daylight plan, made public yesterday, showed 990 members in favor of setting the clock ahead for the whole year if done on a nation-wide basis. A proposition to apply the plan to eight months of the year, beginning April 1, was favored by 611 members. Seventeen members opposed any change from the present sys-
